Brook Smith

While at the helm of Wisconsin Lutheran College (WLC), Brook was responsible for guiding the Warriors to their only two overall winning seasons (2001, 2002) in program history. In each of those seasons, the Warriors were just one win shy of reaching the NCAA Tournament.

Brook has coached a total of 30 players to various all-conference teams, including 12 first team selections. While at WLC was coach of first-ever NCAA Division III batting champion and D3baseball.com All-American.

A three-sport star in football, basketball and baseball at Northwestern College, Brook transferred to Bradley University in 1991 and played baseball for two seasons. Brook was drafted in 11th round of the Major League Baseball draft in 1993 by the San Francisco Giants and played in their minor league system. Brook's playing day highlight was the issuance of a walk to fellow minor leaguer Alex Rodriguez (A-Rod) after a lengthy battle.

Please call (414) 805-7111 should there be inclement weather. A make up session will be offered as needed.
